

Final Deliverable Explanation

My project went through many changes this semester, so much so that we (my mentor Phyllis and I) ended up redesigning my final deliverable to reflect these changes.

My final deliverable is a series of explorative drawings of several poses I have worked closely with throughout the semester. These drawings convey my understanding of the pose in more than just a two dimensional way. Additionally these drawings show the development of my understanding of the human figure when compared to my sketchbook throughout the semester. Finally these drawings show a mindset change in myself – I am now able to submit and be happy with drawings that are not necessarily pretty, but show exploration and understanding.
